“Don’t Dis My Ability” - Making the Invisible Visible!

(Sudbury, ON) – The Learning Disabilities Association of Sudbury’s flag was raised this morning at James Jerome Sports Complex, Mayor Brian Bigger was on hand to officially mark October as Learning Disabilities Awareness Month in Greater Sudbury. Immediately following the flag raising event, 2080 small flags representing the total number of students who have been identified with a learning disability within our school system were planted along Paris Street.

“This is such an important month and I am so pleased to be the Honorary Chair,” said Mary-Liz Warwick, Student Success and Transition Navigator at Cambrian College. “Students with a learning disability are not only intelligent, they are also very creative. With proper accommodations they can excel in their educational pursuits. The goal of bringing awareness to learning disabilities is to ensure that every student is equipped for success throughout their schooling.”
